THE HALACHOS AND KASHRUS OF MEDICATIONS PART 1

Nowadays when one is not feeling up to par he takes a few medications and with Hashem's help feels better within a couple of days and goes back to his regular routine. There are many halachic issues with regard to medications which need to be addressed. Is a beracha recited on pleasant tasting medication such as cough syrup? Does one have to recite a beracha on water when ingesting a pill? Can one walk into the bathroom with medicine? Can one take pills on Shabbos? Is it permitted to take a gel-cap? Can one take liquid medication which is full of flavors? What about vitamins? These issues will be dealt with at length in the upcoming issues.

Beracha on Medication

A beracha is not recited on food which is eaten to heal if one does not have enjoyment from the food. However, if one does have enjoyment from the food, a beracha rishona

(ברכות ה')

and achrona (see below) is recited.¹ Even if one does not want the good tasting food and is only eating it because he is ill, since he has enjoyment from it a beracha is recited.² Examples of medicines which require a beracha due to their pleasant taste are herbal teas and cough drops.³

Medicine mixed with Sweeteners

Some say even if the medicine itself does not have flavor, but is mixed with other ingredients (sweeteners) that have flavor, one still recites a beracha on the medicine.⁴

The reason for this opinion is because the mixture tastes pleasant and we do not look at the medicine before the taste was placed into it.⁵ This is the opinion of many poskim.⁶

Some say if one consumes a medicine which contains sweeteners (and if not for the need of the medicine one would not consume the sweeteners, then no beracha is required.⁷ Others say no beracha is recited because such sweetener is only a tafel to the actual medication and if no beracha is recited on the ikur, then one does not recite a beracha on the tafel.⁸ Nonetheless, others disagree with this reasoning and maintain that a beracha should be recited even in this situation.⁹ Since there is a dispute in this regard,

Refer to Vezos Ha’beracha page 356:9 notes of Harav Forst Shlita on Vezos Ha’beracha. The opinion of Harav Pinchus Bonder Shlita is that no beracha is recited on pleasant tasting cough syrup based on the pesak he heard from Harav Shlomo Zalman Aurbach zt”l (Personal telephone conversation with Harav Bodner Shlita).

However, see Mishnah Berurah 174:39 and 212:1 who says the halacha is that a beracha is recited on the tafel. See Pischei Halacha (Berochos) page 246 who disputes the claim that the reason why no beracha is recited here is because no beracha is recited on the tafel. Refer to Rivevos Ephraim 4:54:39.

one should recite a beracha on a different shehakol food and have in mind to exempt the medicine.¹⁰

According to all opinions, medicine for children which is sweet like candy would require a beracha.¹¹

No Beracha Required

One who is forced to eat or drink something does not recite a beracha even if it tastes pleasant since he was forced to do so.¹²

A bad tasting food does not require a beracha before eating it.¹³

How Much to Eat or Drink?

Some poskim are of the opinion that one does not recite a beracha on a pleasant tasting medicine unless one ate a kezayis or drank a reviis of it. The reason for this is that just as one who tastes food does not recite a beracha unless a kezayis or reviis is consumed; the same applies for medications, since one does not have intent for eating.¹⁴ Nonetheless, the poskim do not make this comparison and therefore, a beracha on pleasant tasting medicine would be required regardless of the amount being consumed since one's intent is to swallow the medicine as opposed to the "tasting" case where one does not intend to have enjoyment.¹⁵

Which Beracha Rishona?

The *Rama*¹⁶ says any food which a healthy person does not eat requires a shehakol if taken as medication, regardless of the food's real beracha.¹⁷ Others say one should recite the appropriate beracha.¹⁸ The *Mishnah Berurah*¹⁹ maintains that one should avoid this situation when possible.²⁰

Beracha Achrona

One who recited a shehakol on a medication would be required to recite a beracha achrona if the proper shiur was consumed.²¹

Listerine Pocketpaks®

For years people have been erroneously consuming Listerine Pocketpaks® without a hechsher, but obviously this product needs a hechsher,²² especially since it is digested in the stomach.²³ Recently, this product became available with a hechsher. The question arises if this product requires a beracha prior to placing it in one's mouth. Many people do not recite a beracha. However, even though this product melts in the mouth, it is swallowed and therefore, according to some poskim a beracha of shehakol should be recited before placing it in the mouth.²⁴ Others maintain that a beracha does not need to be recited.²⁵

The company says that there is nothing unsafe with swallowing it since there is no alcohol in the product.²⁶ If one uses a breath mist (with a hechsher) then one does not recite a beracha on it, instead one should make a shehakol on a different food.²⁷

Pills which are swallowed

If there is no flavor on the coating on a pill, no beracha is recited because there is no enjoyment from the pill. In addition, swallowing medication without chewing it first is not the normal manner of consumption and is not viewed halachically as eating. Furthermore, it is possible that these pills are not fit to be eaten²⁸ and therefore do not require a beracha.²⁹ Some say this even applies to a pill which has a sweet coating; since one swallows it no beracha is recited.³⁰

Some say if one is taking a pill in order for one to lose weight and by taking the pill it makes one feel full, then one should recite a beracha on the pill since it is instead of food.

Nonetheless, the poskim suggest one makes a beracha on something else instead.³¹

Chewable

A chewable pill which has a pleasant taste requires a beracha according to those who recite a beracha on pleasant tasting medications.³² One should recite a shehakol on a different food before consuming flavored Tums® that have a hechsher.³³

Intravenous

One who receives food in a liquid form through intravenous does not recite a beracha on the food.³⁴

Drinking before a Procedure

Many times before a medical procedure is performed one is given something to drink. This drink does not necessarily taste good on its own, but sweeteners are added to it. The status of whether a beracha would be recited is dependent on the both opinions mentioned above.³⁵ One who is given something to eat before a procedure would recite a beracha on the food.³⁶

Drinking Water for Medical Purposes

When one is taking a pill that does not taste pleasant and wants to drink water to mask the bad taste, no beracha is recited on the water.³⁷ The same is true if one is taking a pill and is not thirsty.³⁸ Before a woman goes for an ultra sound/sonogram she

If one places water in liquid medicine to make it taste better no beracha is recited on the water (Sharei Ha'beracha 18:footnote 76). If one needs to drink water for medical purposes and he is not thirsty he should recite a beracha on something else and have in mind to exempt the water from a beracha (Harav Yisroel Belsky Shlita, see Eishel Avraham Butchatch 204:7).

Harav Shlomo Zalman Aurbach zt"l maintains one may drink more water than needed for a pill and a beracha would not be required on that water either (Ve'aleihu Lo Yeibol 1:pages 110-111).

is asked to drink water. No beracha is recited on the water.³⁹ It would seem that a nursing woman, who needs to drink a lot of water, would not recite a beracha on the water if she is not thirsty.⁴⁰ However, others maintain that she should take food whose beracha is shehakol and exempt the beracha on the water.⁴¹ Many times, after one brushes his teeth or rinses with mouthwash, he drinks water to rinse out his mouth, one does not recite a beracha on such water.⁴² If one has a sore throat and drinks water to clear his throat, it would seem that a beracha is not recited.⁴³ (In all the above situations, if one is thirsty, a beracha is recited). One who drinks a tasty beverage to take his pill would recite a beracha on the beverage.⁴⁴

Medicine mixed with a food or water

It is very common to take a powdered medicine and mix it with a food or water. Some may say that since the food which the medicine is mixed into is a tafel, no beracha is recited. Nonetheless, others say one should recite a beracha on the mixture.⁴⁵ If the food (not medicine) is not a shehakol,⁴⁶ the *Rama*⁴⁷ holds the beracha is a shehakol regardless of the beracha of the food, while others argue with this ruling.⁴⁸ The *Mishnah Berurah*⁴⁹ maintains that one should avoid this situation when possible.⁵⁰

Medicine taken during a Meal

When one consumes a medicine during a meal a separate beracha is required since the medicine is not part of the meal.⁵¹

Storing food under a bed

Since there is ruach ra'ah under a bed one should not store food under a bed.⁵⁴ However, one is allowed to store medicine under a bed and there is no concern of ruach ra'ah.⁵⁵

Taking Medicine into the Bathroom

It is permitted for one to walk into the bathroom with a pill etc.⁵⁶ In addition it is permitted to keep medicines in a medicine cabinet that is in the bathroom,⁵⁷ but one should not take his medicine with water in a bathroom.

Reciting a Tefilla before taking Medication

Some have a custom before taking medication to recite a yehi ratzon that all should be well.⁵⁸ This tefilla may be recited on Shabbos and is not a concern of asking for personal needs on Shabbos.⁵⁹

Medicine after Candle Lighting before Kiddush

Taking Medicine on *Shabbos*⁶³

There are different categories of people who may not feel well on Shabbos. We will only deal with the category of people who do not feel well on Shabbos, but are not in danger (sakana). One who may have a headache or a runny nose (slight discomfort) is not permitted to take medication.⁶⁴

Chazal made a gezeirah that one is not allowed to take medications on Shabbos because one may come to grind it which is forbidden because of tochain.⁶⁵

The area of taking medications on Shabbos will iy"h be discussed in a later issue. Two areas which arise are, if one is prescribed medication for a week or two can he take it on Shabbos? In addition, is the consumption of over the counter painkillers permitted on Shabbos?

Many times one is prescribed medication for more than a week's time for a slight ailment in which case he would have to take the medicine on Shabbos as well. The question is if one is permitted to take his medication even on Shabbos? The opinion of many poskim is that when one is prescribed medication for more than a week's time one is permitted to continue taking it on Shabbos as well, even if he would otherwise not be permitted to take medicine on Shabbos.⁶⁶ Others are more lenient and permit one to take the medication on Shabbos even if he started taking the medication a day or two prior to Shabbos.⁶⁷ The opinion of *Harav Moshe Feinstein zt"l*⁶⁸ is to be stringent with this and he does not permit the taking of any medications in the aforementioned situation (unless one is in danger).

The halacha is that a food which is not necessarily meant for refuah, but is taken by healthy people may be consumed on Shabbos by a person who has a slight ailment.⁶⁹

63. The same halacha applies to the first day of Yom Tov (Refer to Magen Avraham 532:2, Chai Adom 23:1, Kitzur Shulchan Aruch 98:33, Mishnah Berurah 532:5, Yom Tov Shenei K'hilchoso 1:22, Nishmas Avraham 1:pages 275-276) and both days of Rosh Hashanah (Nishmas Avraham 1:600:1, see Shemiras Shabbos K'hilchoso 31:28, Yom Tov Shenei K'hilchoso 1:22:footnote 76, Shevet Ha'kehusi 1:156)

Many poskim are of the opinion that Tylenol® and other aspirin should not be taken even though healthy people may take them as well.⁷⁰ However, if one is in great pain then taking them is permitted.⁷¹

Some say that a multi-vitamin that one takes everyday is permitted since it is a food and not a refuah.⁷²

Ripping the Packaging of a Medicine

According to the opinion of some poskim, on Shabbos one should rip the wrapping around a medication by destroying it and making it useless.⁷³

Taking Pills on a Fast Day

On a fast day one that is not feeling well and wants to take a pill is permitted to do so. Some say one should wrap the pill in a tissue before swallowing it.⁷⁴ Some poskim say that one may not use water to swallow a pill.⁷⁵ (However, if one's doctor instructs him to take a pill on a fast day then even according to this opinion using a little water is permitted).⁷⁶ Others say if one cannot take a pill without water then one may use a little water.⁷⁷ One should avoid this if possible on Tisha B'av, and on Yom Kippur since using water in order to swallow a pill is forbidden.⁷⁸ One is permitted to take a medication before a fast if it will enable him to have an easier fast.⁷⁹

There is a discussion in the poskim if one is allowed to use mouthwash on the morning of a fast day. Some poskim are stringent,⁸⁰ while others say if one will have bad breath then it is permitted.⁸¹

Consuming Gelatin and Gel-caps

When one walks down the aisles in a pharmacy he may see many pills which contain a gelatin coating. This issue involves the discussion of gelatin. Below we will discuss what gelatin is and what its kosher status is, and how it applies to ingesting gel-caps.

What is Gelatin?⁸²

Gelatin is a protein which is derived from a naturally occurring protein known as collagen. Collagen is the component of animal connective tissue, bones, sinews and skin. Gelatin does not have any taste to it. Gelatin is widely used in the pharmaceutical industry to coat capsules as well as hold tablets together. In addition, gelatin is used in marshmallows, yogurt, ice cream, jello,⁸³ to remove cloudiness or haze in apple juice,⁸⁴ in gummy bears, throat lozenges, frostings, protein supplements, and sugar glazes.⁸⁵

How is it Manufactured?

The source of gelatin is almost always the bones or hides of non-kosher animals. To improve the quality of the process, the raw material is pretreated by soaking the hard bones in a mixture of lime and water between 70-120 days. Soft bone and hides are treated with a five percent concentration of mineral acids for ten to thirty hours. Gelatin is then extracted from the pretreated material in a process which is like cooking. The bones are warmed in a series of runs at increasing temperatures. Eventually gelatin liquor is formed, which is then filtered and evaporated to remove the water and concentrate the liquor. The liquor is then cooled to form a gel. The gel is dried and cut into desired shapes.⁸⁶

The poskim discuss many reasons why consuming gelatin may be permitted. Each one will be dealt with below.

Bones from non-Kosher animals

The *Toras Kohanim*⁸⁷ says the posuk “from non-pure animals one should not eat their flesh”⁸⁸ excludes bones, sinews, and hooves. There is a discussion if there is no issur

82. Gelatin comes from the Latin word “gelatus” which means stiff or frozen.

at all, or if there is an issur d'rabanan to consume the above items. The *Rambam*⁸⁹ is of the opinion that “one who eats from a non-kosher animal, it’s skin, bones, sinews, horns, hooves, or nails, even though they are forbidden, is excused from punishment.” It seems from the opinion of the Rambam that bones are forbidden d'rabanan, while others maintain that he does not seem to imply even an issur d'rabanan.⁹⁰ The opinion of *Tosfas*⁹¹ who talks about permitting bee legs implies that bones are indeed permitted.

The opinion of some poskim is that the Rambam when implying that an issur d'rabanan exists for bones was referring to soft bones which have some moisture to it, but hard and dry bones are permitted even according to the Rambam.⁹²

The Gelatin has changed

The *Mishnah Berurah*⁹³ and others⁹⁴ say regarding “musk,” which is a byproduct of blood that is found in the neck of a deer, we can consider it “changed,” since the blood is turned into a new entity. Many poskim follow this opinion.⁹⁵

Using the same line of reasoning, some poskim permit the use of gelatin since it is totally changed from its original state.⁹⁶ Others are not convinced that one can draw a parallel between musk and gelatin.⁹⁷

Dried out Stomach / Gelatin

The *Rama*⁹⁸ says an animal’s stomach lining which was salted and dried out so that it becomes like a piece of wood may be filled with milk since it does not retain any taste of meat.⁹⁹ The same would apply to gelatin which is completely dried out.¹⁰⁰

A question which arises is, if a non-kosher food becomes like wood but is later edible does it change the status or does it retains its previous non-kosher status?

Some say that once the product was dried it may not regain its non-kosher status.¹⁰¹ Others are stringent in this regard.¹⁰²

Contemporary Opinions

The opinion of the *Achiezer*¹⁰³ and others¹⁰⁴ is to permit the consumption of gelatin. The opinion of *Harav Henkin zt"l*¹⁰⁵ is that since this matter is not decided one should be stringent. This is the opinion of *Harav Moshe Feinstein zt"l*¹⁰⁶ and others as well.¹⁰⁷ The opinion of the Israeli Rabbinate is to permit the consumption of gelatin,¹⁰⁸ while the Mehadrin kosher certification in Eretz Yisroel do not allow gelatin.¹⁰⁹ The major kashrus organizations in the United States do not allow non-certified gelatin.¹¹⁰ (The above discussion does not apply to taking gel-caps, as this will be discussed below).

Status of Kosher Gelatin

Gelatin made from a kosher source is considered pareve.¹¹¹ Kosher gelatin is gelatin made from fish¹¹² or glatt kosher beef hides.

In addition it is botel b'shishim. Some say maybe the whole concern was flesh of the fish with meat not the skins or bones. Additionally, the gelatin made from fish (and other sources) does not have a flavor (Star-K Kashrus Kurrents in an article by Rabbi Mushell).

Gel Caps - Not in the Normal Manner

One who is sick is permitted to eat a non-kosher food (which is normally ossur b'achilah) in an unusual manner.¹¹³ Based on this, the opinion of some poskim is that swallowing a pill made from a gelatin coating is permitted, since it is for a sick person and it is not the usual manner of eating.¹¹⁴ However, there are poskim who maintain that swallowing a pill is the regular manner of consumption.¹¹⁵ Others are lenient and maintain that swallowing a pill is considered an unusual manner.¹¹⁶ In addition, even those who are stringent by gelatin, it would not apply to medicines. However, according to the stringent opinion above regarding gelatin, one who only has a headache¹¹⁷ or slight discomfort¹¹⁸ should take a pill which has no gelatin or wrap the gel-cap in a tissue (in the next issue we will iy"h continue our discussion on gel-caps).¹¹⁹

113. Shulchan Aruch Y.D. 155:3, Shach 14, Mishnah Berurah O.C. 466:1. An example of this is giving someone non-kosher food through intravenous.

114. Opinion of Harav Henkin zt"l quoted in Edos L'Yisroel page 132, opinion of Harav Shachter Shlita as expressed in OU document I-97. He adds that the gel-caps have no taste to them and are nifsal from feeding to a dog.

115. Refer to Nodeh B'Yehdua Y.D. 35, Pischei Teshuva Y.D. 155:6, Har Tzvi Y.D. 97, opinions of Harav Shlomo Zalman Aurbach zt"l and Harav Elyashiv Shlita quoted in Medicines and Kashrus page 57:footnote 17, Yeishiv Moshe page 165, Shemiras Shabbos K'hilchoso 40:footnote 169, Halichos Shlomo Moadim (Pesach) 1:page 69. This is the opinion of Harav Yisroel Belsky Shlita quoting the opinion of Harav Henkin zt"l, see www.koltorah.org.

116. Halichos Shlomo 1:17:1 (although he is quoted in the footnote above as saying otherwise), see Toras Chaim (Chullin 120) who is lenient

117. Refer to Halichos Shlomo Moadim (Pesach) pages 71-72 who is unsure if this should be permitted with a slight pain. See Minchas Shlomo 1:17:3.

118. This does not apply to one who is bedridden (Halichos Shlomo Moadim Pesach) pages 71-72:8. The Shach 13 says this heter of the Rama is even for a healthy person. See Mishnah L'melech Hilchos Yesodei Hatorah 5:8 in depth, Zera Emes 2:48. Refer to Pri Megadim M.Z. O.C. 328:11, Shagas Aryeh 74, Binas Adom 52:page 86, Shevet Ha'Levi 7:135 who argue. Harav Yisroel Belsky Shlita maintains if one has a headache he should not swallow gel-caps without wrapping it in a tissue.

119. Refer to Mesora 14:page 92. Others say the custom is to be lenient with one who has even a headache (Chai Ha'Levi 3:111:2).

Fish Oil in a Product

Halachic Background

One who eats fish and meat that were cooked together is putting himself in danger. Some authorities say that one should not roast the two together. B'dieved if the food only has reiach (one of the pots were covered) it is permitted. The food is forbidden if they were cooked or roasted together in the same pot.

Sixty Times - Shishim

There is a big dispute in the poskim if fish is botul b'shishim in other foods. Some poskim say bitul b'shishim does not help if things are dangerous, while most say it does help. The prevalent custom is according to the second opinion.

The Bais Din maintained that we may be lenient and not write FISH on the label, if the fish is less than 1% (botul b'shishim), especially since this is fish oil which does not have the same concern as fish.

KASHRUS CORNER

Tu B'Shevat

With Tu B'Shevat around the corner, one may be eating new and unfamiliar fruits and vegetables. Be sure that there are no infestation issues with this produce, especially many dry fruits (such as, dates and figs).
